

Title	Law and Society Workshop
Lecturer(s): Contact email address:	Prof. Zoltán Fleck , head of department Department for Theory of Law & Society zfleck@ajk.elte.hu
Brief description	The course is built on the reading activity of the students, some essential readings are discussed and disputed during the semester. The core problem is the evil face of law and its theoretical assumptions. The carefully selected texts illustrate the problems and limits of modern law and open the way for constructing a critical view on legal regulation. Student skills: reading, conceptualizing, disputing, formulating critic
Schedule	Students read and dispute texts, find examples and illustrations, discuss moral issues concerning the functionality of modern legal systems.
Materials/Recommended readings	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Valerie Kerruish: Jurisprudence as Ideology</li><li>• Peter Fitzpatrick: The Mythology of Modern Law</li><li>• David Fraser: Law After Auschwitz</li><li>• Peter Gabel: Another Way of Seeing</li></ul>
Assessment/Exam	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• course activity (40%)</li><li>• essay at the end of the course (60%)</li></ul>